The Acting Vice-Chancellor, Prof. Wole Banjo has congratulated members of the TASUED Enactus Club for winning the 2021 edition of the National competition.

Prof. Banjo gave the commendation when he hosted members of the team in his office recently. He described the team as highly innovative students who used their time, talents and entrepreneurial skills in making the world a better place to live.

The Acting Vice-Chancellor noted that he wasn't surprised at the exploits of the team, adding that the Institution is full of unique Staff and Students who have chosen to use their time, energy, skills and resource to serve humanity.

"The Management recognised the roles played by TASUED Enactus Club in projecting the Institution's name nationally and globally with the feat achieved at the 2020 competition at New Zealand", Prof Banjo noted.

He enjoined them to replicate the feat at the international competition taking place at Netherlands in October,

Prof. Banjo later made a donation to the team.

In her response, the team leader, Miss Omiyale Afusat on behalf of other members thanked the University Management for their support, noting that the achievement would not have been possible without the fatherly roles played by the club's Staff Adviser, Dr Lawal; the Director, Centre for Human Rights and Gender Education (CHURGE) Prof. Abosede Ewumi, Director, Centre for Part time and External Programmes, Prof. Dele Sogbesan and all other Deans in the University among others.

Miss Omiyale disclosed that the team made waste bins from used pet bottles, while it also made paper bags from the peel of bananas.

She warned that the survival of the world rest on the human race adding that if care is not taken, plastic bottles will triple number of fishes in the ocean adding that all hands must be on deck to fight against environmental degradation.

A letter of commendation was later presented to the team by the Acting Vice-Chancellor.

It would be recalled that a similar feat was achieved last year when TASUED Enactus Club led by Mr Oluwatomilola Idris Mustapha defeated other participants across the world to clinch the 2020 Tei Kaihau Social Entrepreneur Award held at New Zealand.
